What's New In?

Pidgin is a GTK+-based IRC chat client. It has support for the Sinepad sound scheme. An interface based on the ZynAddSubFx framework, is used to load the sound scheme. Each sound is loaded into a separate 'channel' in the file. The main body of the program uses a sequencer-like interface to control the channels. This makes it possible to produce every sound from a single keyboard (the sound scheme is installed as a whole on the disk). How to install: 1. Unpack the downloaded archive to any directory. 2. Unpack the distribution to the directory, containing your Pidgin installation. 3. Run the configuration program. 4. In the configuration program you can see the installation path of the package. When the configuration program is finished, you will have a new folder there. 5. Copy the content of the new folder into the Pidgin/sound/ folder. 6. Restart Pidgin and enjoy!
