FIFA World Cup 2010, also known as FIFA World Cup 2010, is the twentieth edition of the FIFA World Cup, the world's biggest football tournament. It is the second world cup hosted by South Africa, after the FIFA World Cup 2006. The tournament was originally due to take place in South Africa but was moved to Brazil in order to avoid political problems. It was subsequently decided that Russia should host the next World Cup due to the financial burden of hosting the tournament. FIFA decided not to change this decision and the finals took place in South Africa, Brazil and the United States. It was the third time a South American country had hosted the World Cup after Brazil and Argentina. The 2010 FIFA World Cup was the largest ever at 58 matches, spread over 16 venues (eight in each) in four cities in four countries (South Africa, Brazil, the United States and Africa), which was significantly more than at the previous tournaments. FIFA World Cup 2010 was held between 11 June and 11 July 2010, with the opening match played on 11 June and the final on 11 July. The South African cities of Johannesburg, Cape Town, Durban and Port Elizabeth hosted the four group stages of the tournament. The semi-finals and third place play-off, originally to be held in Johannesburg and Durban, were moved to Cape Town after Durban qualified for the finals and a venue in Jo'burg could not be found. The tournament had 30 teams from around the world divided into two groups. Each group had ten teams with the top two teams from each group advancing to the quarter-finals. Teams from Africa, Asia and CONCACAF (North America, Central America and Caribbean) comprised the four groups, while UEFA (Europe) and ASEAN (Oceania) were represented by one group each. Brazil was the host country, along with Uruguay. The South African cities of Johannesburg, Cape Town, Port Elizabeth and Durban, held 16 matches each, while the cities of São Paulo and Belo Horizonte hosted eight matches each. A total of 55 matches were held, with 30 featuring the teams in the tournament proper, and 25 featuring the teams in the qualifying rounds. The remaining time of the 2010

FIFA World Cup was divided into a group stage, which is a group of six teams facing each other once, and a second group stage with eight teams, divided into two groups of four. The top two teams from each group qualify for the semi-finals. The top two teams from the semi-finals
