The Enhanced Targeting system, Retrosheet and In-Play Events feature have also been improved for FIFA 22. Key Changes New Motion Capture Technology For the first time in franchise history, FIFA football simulation gets a true, accurate and 3D representation of the players, the ball and the pitch. During a long football game, the player movements in the game are captured by a motion capture suit and are used to power player movements and player attributes. The same motion capture data is also used to create smooth animations for the ball, including on-pitch actions, free-kick delivery, and free-kick strike. Five new Lions Den Packs are available, including Player Zones, Captaincy, Skill/Pace, Starting XI, and Goalkeepers. Player Zones Saved game replays have been used to create player zone levels that are dynamically generated around the game's pitch to the player's position in-game. Press the '+' icon to enter a specific player zone and the game will automatically focus on that player. Players in the game and on screen will be able to run, chase and tackle better and more accurately. Players can earn the role of captain during a match, submit a captaincy request or leave the captaincy up to the AI. In addition to unlockables, the Lions Den pack adds a custom captain who has a different voice, tactics, skills and players within his squad. Skill/Pace This Lions Den Pack is designed to bring pace to your game. As a captain, you will be able to boost the pace of your team by assigning players to high speed roles and using a wide set of new tactics. Starting XI Are you looking to make your starting XI?
