
Diablo 3 Offline Client Patch V 2.2 76 !!!INSTALL!!

Updates a nice chunk of Diablo III as many of you will notice. Main one being no more /ooc chat so I don't have to mute it. I also have some bad news for those who just get updates once a week or so, I would rather just limit the number of times I hit update since this is really just a second set of actions to take. I have also been working on an issue with the Diablo III client crashing on systems where my mouse inputs are located in the touch pad. So far I have tested my wand mounts on the Zowie Mini(touch pad) mouse and it works fine. There may still be something wrong with the mouse, but I have not had enough of a time to do further testing. However, there is currently no fix for this issue, so you will just have to work around it, and hope that it does not get worse. Basically, this weekend consisted of farming up enough Rift power to start trying to patch. I have been on a little break from that since in order to not get frustrated and angry at RIFT again. I managed to get through about 3% of the power and I think I understand enough to do the complete patch. This is more of a tactical document than one of my other patches where I just talk about how to do it. I intend to write something up about the patch once I do it, but for now, just the download link is all you get. I do need to clear up a few things before I start though. This is the first time I have ever attempted a long patch and I am definitely ready to throw in the towel if I have to. It is making me crazy that it has taken me so long to get to this point and that is not even fully patching my game. I need to start getting used to the feel of how to move my character around the world (moving the mouse to the location), what I need to do to be able to edit items, how to combine items, etc. I also want to play around with it a little bit and also look into the mods that are out there. The patch should be available on Sunday though and I should have time to sort out where I am at and what is missing.
